

FACT SHEET: Health Care in Arizona
What the Affordable Care Act is doing for Arizona families

The Affordable Care Act has already covered nearly one in three uninsured Americans – more than sixteen million – and improved coverage for virtually everyone with health coverage. Americans can no longer be denied coverage because of preexisting conditions, women can't be charged more just for being women, and there are no more annual caps on the care patients receive. Hospitals, doctors and other providers are changing the way they operate to deliver better care at lower cost. Hospitals, doctors and other providers are changing the way they operate to deliver better care at lower cost. In the years to come, the ability to buy portable and affordable plans on a competitive marketplace will allow countless Americans to move, start businesses, and dream big American dreams – without worrying if an illness will bankrupt them. Here is how the Affordable Care Act is working for families in Arizona:

After Health Reform: Improved Access to Care

- Gallup recently estimated that the uninsured rate in Arizona in 2014 was 17.5 percent, down from 20.4 percent in 2013.
- Prohibits coverage denials and reduced benefits, protecting as many as 2,794,358 Arizonans who have some type of pre-existing health condition, including 410,684 children.
- Eliminates lifetime and annual limits on insurance coverage and establishes annual limits on out-of-pocket spending on essential health benefits, benefiting 2,091,000 people in Arizona, including 769,000 women and 570,000 children.
- Expands Medicaid to all non-eligible adults with incomes under 133% of the federal poverty level. 314,930 more people in Arizona have gained Medicaid or CHIP coverage since the beginning of the Health Insurance Marketplace first open enrollment period.
- Establishes a system of state and federal health insurance exchanges, or marketplaces, to make it easier for individuals and small-business employees to purchase health plans at affordable prices through which 165,026 people in Arizona were covered in March 2015.

- Created a temporary high-risk pool program to cover uninsured people with pre-existing conditions prior to 2014 reforms which helped more than 5,254 people in Arizona.
- Creates health plan disclosure requirements and simple, standardized summaries so 3,065,000 people in Arizona can better understand coverage information and compare benefits.

After Health Reform: More Affordable Care

- Creates a tax credit to help 126,506 people in Arizona who otherwise cannot afford it purchase health coverage through health insurance marketplaces.
- Requires health insurers to provide consumers with rebates if the amount they spend on health benefits and quality of care, as opposed to advertising and marketing, is too low. Last year, 347,772 consumers in Arizona received $11,370,182 in rebates.
- Eliminates out-of-pocket costs for preventive services like immunizations, certain cancer screenings, contraception, reproductive counseling, obesity screening, and behavioral assessments for children. This coverage is guaranteed for more than 2,726,206 people in Arizona including 1,061,129 women.
- Eliminates out-of-pocket costs for 766,423 Medicare beneficiaries in Arizona for preventive services like cancer screenings, bone-mass measurements, annual physicals, and smoking cessation.
- Phases out the “donut hole” coverage gap for 95,181 Medicare prescription drug beneficiaries in Arizona, who have saved an average of $869 per beneficiary.
- Creates Accountable Care Organizations consisting of doctors and other health-care providers who share in savings from keeping patients well while improving quality, helping 143,151 Medicare beneficiaries in Arizona.
- Phases out overpayments through the Medicare Advantage system, while requiring Medicare Advantage plans to spend at least 85 percent of Medicare revenue on patient care. Medicare Advantage enrollment has grown by 102,179 to 428,811 in Arizona since 2009.

After Health Reform: Improved Quality and Accountability to You

- Provides incentives to hospitals in Medicare to reduce hospital-acquired infections and avoidable readmissions. Creates a collaborative health-safety learning network, the Partnership for Patients, that includes 50 hospitals in Arizona to promote best quality practices.

We're not done. Other legislation and executive actions are continuing to advance the cause of effective, accountable and affordable health care. This includes:

- Incentive payments for doctors, hospitals, and other providers to adopt and use certified electronic health records (EHR). In Arizona more than 71.6 percent of hospitals and 50.7 percent of providers have electronic health records systems.
- A new funding pool for Community Health Centers to build, expand and operate health-care facilities in underserved communities. Health Center grantees in Arizona now serve 438,260 patients and received $137,129,679 under the health care law to offer a broader array of primary care services, extend their hours of operations, hire more providers, and renovate or build new clinical spaces.
- Health provider training opportunities, with an emphasis on primary care, including a significant expansion of the National Health Service Corps. As of September 30, 2014, there were 344 Corps clinicians providing primary care services in Arizona, compared to 103 clinicians in 2008.
